Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 23 June 2006.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL.                      2b) ☒ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 6/23/2006 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Herz et al (USPAP 20010014868) ("Herz") in view of Duncan (USPN 6934692) ("Duncan").

Re claims 1, 3, 11-15, 22: Herz teaches a system, corresponding program and method of facilitating trade, comprising the steps of: receiving an input price from a network client as input to a computer program at a network server (para 0003-0004); accessing via the computer program a plurality of preconfigured buyer profiles, each profile of the plurality of buyer profiles including at least the identification of a buyer, a delivery destination and a pricing factor, each pricing factor being assigned by the network client and associated by the network client with the respective identified buyer (para 0020 and 0005); configuring via the computer program a plurality of output prices, each output price being associated with one buyer profile of the plurality of buyer profiles, and each output price being a modification of the input price and reflecting a price adjustment affected by the pricing factor of the respective associated buyer profile (para 0020 and 0279); and confidentially distributing the plurality of output prices, including the step of distributing to the identified buyer associated with each buyer profile the output price associated with the respective associated buyer profile (para 0020 and 0279).

Herz does not explicitly teach accessing via the computer program a logistics database which includes at least costing information associated with shipping to delivery destinations and modification of price reflecting a cost of shipping to the delivery destination of the respective associated buyer profile. Duncan teaches a logistics database which includes at least costing information associated with shipping to delivery destinations and modification of price reflecting a cost of shipping to the delivery destination of the respective associated buyer profile (col. 9, lines 37-57). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Herz to include these steps as taught by Duncan. One would have been motivated to do so in order to adjust the cost of shipping according to modes of transportation or location of the delivery destination.

Re claim 2: Herz teaches wherein the step of confidentially distributing includes the step of posting each output price at the server for confidential access by the buyer identified in the respective associated buyer profile (para 0020 and 0279).

Re claim 4: Herz teaches wherein each said buyer profile of said plurality further comprises product specifications unique to said buyer such that, when said seller identifies a product for sale, said buyer is selected to receive said product based on matching said product specification unique to said buyer (Abstract).

Re claims 5, 10: Herz teaches wherein each said output price is forwarded to a buyer associated with the respective buyer profile (para 0279).

Re claims 6-9: Herz does not explicitly teach wherein said input price is provided in a recognized shipping term selected by said seller; wherein said input price is a free-on-board price. Duncan teaches wherein said input price is provided in a recognized shipping term selected by said seller; wherein said input price is a free-on-board price; wherein each said output price is provided in a recognized shipping term selected by said seller; wherein said delivered price is a cost-insurance-freight price (col. 9, lines 10-57). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Herz to include these steps as taught by Duncan. One would have been motivated to do so in order to adjust the cost of shipping according to modes of transportation or location of the delivery destination.

Re claim 16: Herz/Duncan do not explicitly teach receiving a counter offer price from said buyer. Official notice is taken that this feature is old and well known. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to implement this feature for the advantage of possibly obtaining a better price and close the sale.

Re claim 17: Herz teaches wherein said step of generating a delivered price further comprises the step of introducing said offer price into a price configurator (para 0037, 0279).

Re claim 18: Herz teaches wherein said price configurator is an automatic pricing system that can convert an offer price to an individual delivered price (para 0037, 0279).

Re claim 19: Herz teaches wherein said price configurator is an automatic pricing system that can convert an individual delivered price to an offer price (para 0037, 0279).

Re claim 20: Herz teaches wherein said step of generating an offer price further comprises the step of considering at least one of said buyer profile, logistics rate tables, and product specifications (para 0037, 0279).

Art Unit: 3691

Re claim 21: Herz teaches wherein said step of generating a delivered price further comprises the step of considering criteria specifically set by said seller (para 0037, 0279).
